

Era Panasonic

The clock has a bunch of sparks while its hands are sitting here sending items dug from distant years and very likely that old Panasonic typewriter that cost more than a thousand US dollars in the day and produced stuff seen world over, sometimes from afternoon madness or maybe a thing that pulled mind from bed at 3AM
and later laid language in bricks that crossed the International Date Line all the while and wound up opening doors never seen or known til then, and of course right now.